I am happy to be at Positive Tomorrows with my brothers. They were here before me, and now we’re all together. I like Mrs. Gill’s class, and I like being able to play with my new friends at recess.
- Christopher, 2nd Grade
Positive Tomorrows is Oklahoma’s only elementary school and social service agency specifically for children and families experiencing homelessness. We empower students and families to succeed, and we do it in three main ways:

1. By breaking down barriers to learning like hunger, lack of basic necessities, medical care, and transportation
2. By supporting families so they can increase their income, employment and housing
3. By providing a differentiated, trauma-informed education to every student, complete with enriching, extracurricular opportunities

Students at Positive Tomorrows typically live with their families in local shelters, motels, cars, and sometimes even abandoned buildings.

Students often come to us with empty tummies, without coats on cold days, or wearing shoes several sizes too small. Our families are impacted by addiction, incarceration, domestic violence, mental illness, and trauma.

This year I got to have a My Little Pony party for my birthday! Everything was pink, and my cake was really pretty!
- Jasmine, Kindergarten
But these situations do not define them.

At Positive Tomorrows, every child has the chance to succeed. We provide coats and shoes and counseling for students who are traumatized. We help parents rebuild lives, heal families, and become stable and self-sufficient. We give children and families hope that tomorrow will be better.

We believe every child deserves a quality education, regardless of their situation at home. We believe that teaching integrity, creativity, and hope is just as important as teaching reading, math, and science. We know that education is the most powerful tool to combat poverty.

It is only with the support of a generous community that we continue to keep our doors open to these little ones and their families. As we prepare to open new classes and enroll more students, we are grateful for the donors, volunteers, and friends who have helped us build a strong foundation. On behalf of our students, families, and staff, thank you for making brighter futures possible for some of our community’s most vulnerable little ones.

I like taking care of the dolls in my classroom with my best friends. My class does a lot of fun things every day!

There are over 6,000 homeless children in Oklahoma City alone.

There are over 27,000 homeless students in the state of Oklahoma.

*Data provided by the Institute for Children, Poverty and Homelessness

*Data provided by Oklahoma City Public Schools and Putnam City Schools.
Couch homeless students call a different place home every night. Moving frequently, they may double up with families in a dwelling and often sleep on someone’s couch.

Where they stay is not always as comfy as a couch. It may be a garage, a storage unit, a car, even an abandoned building.

I really like the new school because I can run and play outside and do fun things in the gym. My new class is so awesome, and I think I can learn better here, too.

-Hunter, 3rd Grade
Evaluating our Program

Positive Tomorrows assesses students using a program called the Measures of Academic Progress Assessment Program (MAPs), which focuses on individual student growth.

MAPs assessments are given three times during the year for continuing students, and upon entry and withdrawal for students only here a short time. Because enrollment fluctuates considerably at Positive Tomorrows, not all students can be assessed more than once, due to their length of stay.

Interpreting Results:

In MAPs, improvement is measured in Rausch Units, or RITs. RIT scores allow students to be accurately measured regardless of their grade level. The RIT scale uses equal intervals, and it has the same meaning regardless of grade level, so the RIT scale spans grades.

In order to evaluate RIT scores within a context, RIT Scale Norms have been developed that show what students in various grades are achieving nationally. RIT Scale Norms are shaded in the corresponding grade level colors on the following graphs. The average Positive Tomorrows student RIT score growth is represented by a colored line for each grade.
Mobility and Tracking Progress

The 2018-19 school year at Positive Tomorrows served less students than the previous year due to the average length of time a student was enrolled rising from 61 to 84 days. As a result, 45 students were enrolled long enough to be assessed three times, up from 25 last year.

Through partnerships and exposure to new resources, we were able to help more families maintain housing stability last year and locate funding for emergency and rehousing expenses. Families on the cusp of regression, whether due to a crisis or waiting periods/upfront expenses for new housing, were able to see these potential barriers through to the other side and continue their path to self-sufficiency.

We believe these changes resulted in students staying with us longer, which allowed us to more accurately assess academic performance throughout the whole year. Being able to measure our educational outcomes over longer periods and with more students increases our ability to improve those outcomes over time.

For many of our older students who have experienced prolonged exposure to homelessness, they are often much further behind academically than students in younger grades, which can result in larger gaps to overcome compared to their peers upon enrollment.

For some of our students, simply maintaining their academic levels during trauma they experience is success.
Academic Improvement: 3rd - 5th Grade

how you can help

At Positive Tomorrows, we fill our clothing closet with new, donated coats, clothing, shoes, and hygiene items so that we can immediately meet the needs of our students.

Help us stock our closet by viewing our needs list online at www.positivetomorrows.org.
Looking Ahead

We’ve completed another exciting year at Positive Tomorrows. Most notably we moved into our new facility this past December, and we are happy to report that all students and staff have had a successful transition. It feels so much like home that it is hard to imagine having been in our former location just last year.

Looking ahead, we are excited our new facility will eventually allow us to triple the capacity of students able to be served versus how many we could serve at the former location. First on our expansion will be to open an Early Head Start classroom in March 2020, which will allow us to serve children ages 0-3 for the first time in our history.

While we have been thinking about this building for a long time, we have already discovered many opportunities we couldn’t have even imagined until moving in. For example, spaces like our Maker Studio, which had been imagined as a STEAM space, is also turning out to be a great space for art therapy. Our new gym allows our kiddos to get much-needed physical activity at all times of the year and has already been host to a variety of other activities like theatrical performances, holiday carnivals, morning assemblies and fire safety demonstrations.

To all of the donors, volunteers, and friends who have made this dream reality - thank you. Positive Tomorrows’ students, families, and staff sincerely appreciate knowing that Oklahoma City wholeheartedly supports its mission.

But the work isn’t done yet. As we continue to grow our enrollment and programs, we will need to increase operating dollars. Adding classrooms means adding teachers, case managers, buses, expanding food services, and recruiting more volunteers. We are ready to take on this challenge, but it can’t be done without continued community support.

Visit www.positivetomorrows.org to learn how you can join Positive Tomorrows in its mission in partnering with homeless families to educate their children and create pathways to success.
